

I am in support of consumers being able to pick the channels they want in an "a la carte" fashion vs. being forced to pay for channels in larger packages that they don't want or are not interested in.